Developing a new generation of equity-focused educational leaders

Free In-Person Series UDL 101

Universal Design for Learning (UDL) is called out in every content area framework and also in MTSS, as a way the work of “All means all” can come to life. But what does that mean for leaders in theory and in practice? Join us for one, two or all three sessions as we explore UDL and its implications to our work. Sessions will be facilitated by Elisa Torres-Barton, FCSS Executive Leadership Coach & CAST UDL Implementation Specialist.

Introduction to UDL - Principles & Design Process

January 12, 2024 @ 9:00 – 3:00 pm - FCSS Room #201

Whether you are a novice or an expert at Universal Design for Learning, we invite you to join us in re-examining the UDL principles and design process through a leadership lens.

Assessment Through Lens of UDL: How are Assessments Universally Designed?

February 2, 2024 @ 1:00 – 4:00 – FCSS Room #201

During this session, participants will learn how the dozens of available accessibility supports and variety of item types on assessments provide multiple means for student engagement, perception, and action & expression. Understanding how assessments are universally designed can inform the design of learning experiences that are equally, if not more, accessible.

Designing Learning Environments Through the Lens of UDL

March 8, 2024 @ 1:00 – 4:00, FCSS Room #201

In this session we will examine our learning environments via the Predictable Options Inventory tool. It is a tool that helps us design options, based on learner variability, that can be made available to learners, at all times.

Eligibility

Participants must be a K-12 teacher or administrator working in one of our partner counties (Fresno, Kern, Los Angeles, San Luis Obispo, Santa Barbara, or Ventura).
